

SELF-ADVICE.

BY MRS. SIGOURNEY.

Command thyself—no sudden answer give—
With zeal do good, for that alone you live—
To know the worth of time, remember death;
This life is short, and passing is thy breath.
Be sober-minded—wear a look serene—
Act before God, although by men unseen—
Speak not in vain, nor foolishly depart
From gentle words, and purity of heart—
To truth and charity, and peace incline—
With caution censure and applaud mankind—
Seek knowledge fair, but shun insipid mirth
There is no time for folly, while on earth—
Feed not ill will—no sudden friendship make—
Be loyal to trust—no obligation break—
Whatever you neglect, to this attend,
Pity the poor, and be the stranger's friend.
From me with heed—weigh every action right
And scan the conduct of each day at night—
Instructed by past failings to be wise,
Let every wish from purest fountains rise.
In talk secure, pursue one steady plan,
Or actions show the noblest part of man,
Act with relation to a future state,
Retort no slander—render love for hate,
Religion, friendship, and philosophy,
Shall conquer death, and thou shalt never die.
Death cannot hurt, but grant thee sweet release,
From pain, and trouble, to eternal peace.
And hast thou read, O vain, inconstant man!
Read it once more—and fault it if you can.
Now calmly lay thy hand upon thy heart,
And say, "from this I never will depart."

THE NATIONAL MAGAZINE AND REPUBLICAN REVIEW.

H. J. BRENT, ESQ. EDITOR.

THE NATIONAL MAGAZINE AND REPUBLICAN REVIEW will be published in the city of Washington, District of Columbia, on the 1st day of January next, and delivered monthly in all parts of the United States, devoted exclusively to the advancement of the great principles of the Whig party, and the encouragement of literature and science.

The experience of the past year has confirmed in the minds of the more reflecting and sagacious of the Whig party that a review exists in the periodical press of the country, in which they are engaged in the production of our great statesmen on literary and scientific subjects, and those of the eminent literary geniuses of which the United States can boast so ample a share, on the various subjects that present themselves to a sound and vigorous intellect.

It cannot be doubted that the present crisis demands the publication of a work calculated to diffuse and circulate true and honest political information, and to counteract the direful influence exerted by a monthly periodical of a similar nature published in this city, under the auspices, and bearing the name of the self-styled Democracy of the present day, in which are contained the productions of our great statesmen on literary and scientific subjects, and those of the eminent literary geniuses of which the United States can boast so ample a share, on the various subjects that present themselves to a sound and vigorous intellect.

The union of such principles with a general literature as have insulted the common sense and honesty of the country, by proclaiming the "Martyrdom of Cilley," rendered in a manner more detestable from the insidious way in which they are conveyed, as well as for the disorganization of all that, as Americans, should be held most sacred. This combination is calculated to secure them a circulation in quarters to which they might not otherwise penetrate, as well as from a certain deceptive air of high-toned philanthropy and expansive liberality of views, with which they are artfully able to invest themselves, for the purpose of stealing their way into the heads through the unsuspecting hearts of that class on which depends the destiny and hopes of the nation—its young men. Whilst the influence of a mislead popular older hands can never hesitate a moment in recognizing the real naked deformity of these principles of modern Radicalism, under all the fair seeming disguises they may assume, yet to the young they are repulsive with a subtle danger of the most pernicious character.

The National Magazine and Republican Review is designed, and will be conducted with those and other high important considerations in view, calculated to correct misconstructions, and to inculcate the correct political principles on which are based the views and practice of the great Republican Whig party, as well as for the encouragement and maintenance of genuine polite literature. The publishers will neither spare expense in the mechanical department of the work, nor their utmost efforts to render the Review useful to the Public in a literary point of view, and honorable to the country and cause which it is destined to espouse as a National work.

The period is fast arriving when the country will emerge from the dominion of a party which has come into power under the corrupt influence of a mislead popular prejudice, and which has advocated and aided under the broad and corrupt motto of office-seekers, "to the victors belong the spoils of the vanquished," being alike anti-republican, unconstitutional, and a foul stain upon the free institutions of the country, that can only be eradicated by the triumph of the principles which govern the Republican Whig party of the present day.

The advocates of the principles alluded to, who have stood foremost in defence of the Constitution and Laws when they were as disinterested as a party could be, exerting the strength of a Leonidas battling with the host of Xerxes, and have nearly succeeded in rescuing the Government from the grasp of corruption, will deem it their imperative duty to continue their efforts, and it cannot better be done than by supporting a periodical of high standing for sound political principles and literary worth, and such a one will be found in the National Magazine and Republican Review.

The success of the Magazine will therefore depend, in a measure, on the great ability of the opponents of the present Administration, whose interest it will be to aid in its permanent establishment. And it will be equally binding on the talented and patriotic band of leading Whigs to spare neither time nor labor to the explanation and advocacy of the true and only principles on which the Government can prosper, and on the success of which depends the great experiment of Republican Government.

Having made these few remarks on the political aspect of the publication, we feel confident that its utility will be readily perceived by the Public, and fully appreciated. In addition to the political features, the following will be the principal subjects on which the Review will treat, from the pens of most celebrated writers of the present day—

Reviews and Critical Notices will occupy a portion of the pages, thereby giving praise to genius, and censure to such productions as are richly deserving of it.

A Sketch of the Proceedings of Congress will be given at the close of each session, in which will be explained the cause and effect of all prominent acts and measures, compiled by a gentleman of acknowledged ability and opportunity to arrange and collect such matters as will prove both interesting and instructive.

Election Returns will be given in a tabular form, embracing all elections of importance in the various States, as early as practicable after the reception of official returns.

Essays and Tales will also form an important part of the work, and all original articles of this character will receive prompt attention. The object of the publisher, next to enhancing the good cause in which they are embarked, will be to furnish the reader with such matters as will both instruct and amuse; such as

Sketches and Reminiscences of events too minute for history.

Biographical and Historical Sketches of distinguished personages, &c.

Original Poetry will be well sprinkled through its pages.

Engravings of Distinguished Statesmen—If the work should receive the same encouragement as is usually extended to periodicals of a literary and scientific character, the subscribers to the Review will not only find their numbers continually increased by these desirable plates, but also with many other valuable improvements.

PROPOSALS.

For publishing in the city of Washington a weekly newspaper, to be devoted to the interests of RELIGION and LITERATURE, to be called

THE METROPOLITAN CHURCHMAN.

REV. PHILIP SLAUGHTER, Editor.

When a Minister of the Lord Jesus Christ ceases to preach the Gospel, a decent respect for the opinions of the Church and the world requires that he should declare the causes which impel him to take this step. In the present case the Editor was arrested in his ministerial functions by the hand of disease, and his voice hushed by the precept of the physician. He is driven, therefore, by an imperative necessity to do something for the support of his family. Shall he go back to the world and resume his secular pursuits? Most secular occupations would be as incompatible with the state of his health, as revolting to his feelings and principles.

The only alternative, then, is to adopt that mode of life which is most kindred to his profession, and which, next to the living voice of the preacher, seems to be the most fitting instrument to promote the glory of God, and the happiness of his creatures. In his judgment a religious press is that instrument—the press being confessedly one of the mightiest levers that moves the moral world. He has chosen Washington as the locality of this press, and canals radiate to every point in our extensive territory, affording opportunities of easy and speedy communication with every diocese in the Union. 2dly, as the political metropolis of this great Nation, it is the source of mighty moral influences for evil or for good. Every interest in the country is beginning to appreciate the importance of this fact. Newspapers, magazines, and pamphlets, expressing every variety of opinion, in politics, morals and religion, are daily going forth as missiles to every State, town, county, and family of this great nation, fixing the principles, and moulding the manners of its citizens. Under these circumstances he has thought that the Episcopalians of the United States would like to see a press established at this great centre of moral influence, displaying the ensigns of the Gospel, and inscribed with the motto of that Church which was built upon the foundations of the Apostles and Prophets, was cemented with the blood of a glorious army of martyrs, and which says to the angry surges of error, which are beating against her bulwarks, and battering down the walls of other societies, "where shall thy power be displayed?"

The general design of this paper will be the advancement of society in knowledge and religion; and to this end, the aid of various gentlemen, distinguished in the walks of literature as in the walls of the Church, has been secured.

As to the peculiar view of the Editor in Religion, it is enough to say that he is a Minister of the Episcopal Church, and that it will be his continual aim to maintain that Church in her integrity, to exhibit, illustrate, and defend her distinctive features, and to hand her down to our children inviolate, as we received her from our fathers.

P. S.—This paper will contain a weekly summary of our church and of Congress and other facts as are of public interest, and such notices and reviews of the current literature of the day, as will not be unbecoming its religious professions.

TERMS.—Three dollars per annum, payable on delivery of the first number.

All Episcopal Clergymen who approve the design of this paper, are desired to act as its agents, or to procure agents for it in their respective parishes, or to direct to forward the names of subscribers to the editor at Georgetown, D. C.

Publishers throughout the country will confer a favor by sending the above.

THE SOUTHERN SILK MANUAL, and Farmer's Magazine.—This work will be published under the auspices of a number of gentlemen, actively engaged in the cultivation of Moths, Mulberry trees, feeding of the worms, and the manufacture of silks. It will be edited by E. YEATES REESE, and furnished to subscribers at one dollar per annum.

Ample arrangements have been made, and correspondents established, to enable the editor to present a work containing all the information necessary to the planting and cultivation of the trees, the feeding of the worms, and the successful management of the entire silk business. The work will also contain valuable information on agriculture and farming generally.

It will be the particular object of the editor to promote the interest of those engaged in the silk culture in the Southern and Western States; as there the cultivator possesses peculiar advantages in respect to climate, soil, labor, &c.

Orders by letter, (post paid) with the subscription for the year, will receive prompt attention. Address E. Yeates Reese, Baltimore.

Persons desirous to have the above valuable work can be supplied by calling at any store near the 7 Building, Dec. 8
